UPDATED ON 21 AUGUST 2017, MONDAY
1. THE ORGANISER
The Hong Kong Institute of Architects Biennale Foundation (“HKIA Biennale Foundation”) and Hong Kong Arts Development Council (“HKADC”) collaborate as “Organiser”. The Organiser shall appoint a Steering Committee named VB2018 Steering Committee to represent the Organiser to supervise the Project. All correspondence shall be directed to The Hong Kong Institute of Architects Secretariat.

2. PROJECT AIMS
The Organiser has the following aims:

- to present a biennial exhibition of Hong Kong architecture and urban development in the highest standard;
- to promote the creative industry of Hong Kong in an international arena;
- to encourage artistic and intellectual dialogues between artists, architects and curators from around the world;
- to create a favourable environment for the research, design and/or making of visionary architectural works in an exhibition scale;
- to disseminate knowledge gained from taking part in Venice Biennale International Architecture Exhibition;
- promote creativity amongst Hong Kong students and youth through participation;
- to organise a Response Exhibition to arouse wider public interest in art, architecture and city development in Hong Kong and Mainland cities under planning.

3. BACKGROUND OF THE BIENNALE
In parallel with the International Art Exhibition – La Biennale di Venezia and Venice International Film Festival, Venice Biennale International Architecture Exhibition is one of the most prestigious, spectacular and influential cultural meetings in the world. Every two years, the Biennale attracted tenths of thousands of visitors, over 3,000 accredited journalists, and more than fifty exhibiting countries and regions around the world to showcase the latest developments in cities and architecture.

With generous support from the Hong Kong Government funding and other private sponsors in 2006, The Hong Kong Institute of Architects (“HKIA”) and HKADC had joined hands and made a successful Hong Kong debut at the Venice Biennale International Architecture Exhibition. Our exhibition titled “VICE VERSA: displacing Acts, Lives and Thresholds of a Hyper City” had received over 70 local and international media citations. Also as part of the exhibition inauguration, we had held in Venice the forum titled “Making of the Hong Kong Exhibition and the Making of Hong Kong” while curators and exhibitors from Hong Kong had presented side by side with 15 well-known architects and critics from around the world, debating on the unique character and urban aesthetics of Hong Kong. Year 2006 also marked the first national pavilion of China at the Venice Biennale International Architecture Exhibition, while the Hong Kong Exhibition had constructed a reciprocal dialogue on the art of building Chinese modernity and Chinese cities.

While in 2008, our exhibition title was “Fabrica Cultura (Culture Fabricate): Hong Kong in Venice”. Six sub-themes namely Object, Landscape, Building, City, Media and Text, were located into six zones within the exhibition venue in Venice.

Inspired by the colloquial Chinese phrase for the necessities of daily life – 衣食住行 – Clothing, Food, Dwelling, Transport – “Quotidian Architectures”, title of the 2010 exhibition, asked architects, artists, educators, industrialists, and governmental agencies to re-envision the necessary choices we make every day.

In 2012, the Hong Kong exhibition was titled “Inter Cities / Intra Cities: Ghostwriting the Future”, emphasising the importance of social compatibility and cultural diversity in the creation of our cities and focuses on the vital urban, architectural and cultural regeneration of Hong Kong’s very own ‘common ground’: Kowloon East.

In response to the Biennale Director Rem Koolhas’ overall exhibition theme of “Fundamentals”, the 2014 exhibition titled “Fundamentally Hong Kong? Delta Four 1984 - 2044” discussed Delta Urbanism: Social Mobility, Infrastructure and Innovation through four micro-films, along with 16-24 exhibits, including drawings, photographs and models by Hong Kong Architects in Pearl River Delta.

In September 2014, the HKIA Biennale Foundation was established to further the collaboration with HKADC on projects in Venice Biennale International Architecture Exhibition. In the 2016 exhibition titled “Stratagem in Architecture Hong Kong in Venice”, the exhibiting 16 local young architects and artists drew reference from the classical Chinese essay “Thirty-six Stratagems” to create their own Stratagems in Architecture to examine the challenges they face and attempt to provide solutions to the complexity of reality.

To continue with the tradition to “respond” to the Venice Biennale, the Project would be reformatted and made appropriate to exhibit in Hong Kong for the general public.
In 2006, the Hong Kong Response Exhibition was held in Bank of China Tower, Central; 2008, at the Hong Kong Heritage Discovery Centre ("HKHDC"), Tsim Sha Tsui; 2010, the Former Central Police Station Compound; 2012, four locations within Kowloon East (Fly the Flyover01; Tsun Yip Street Playground, Kwun Tong; Upper Ngau Tau Kok Estate Entrance Plaza; OCTA Tower, Kowloon Bay) connected by roving trucks; 2014, HKHDC in Tsim Sha Tsui; and 2016, Oi!, North Point.

In 2016, the Hong Kong Exhibition at Venice attracted over 55,000 visitors. The Response Exhibition at Oi! also attracted more than 12,000 visitors and extensive media coverage, the Organiser expects to maintain the high standard in VB2018.

4. EXHIBITION THEME

4.1 The Theme of the Hong Kong Exhibition is to be developed to respect and respond to the 16th Venice Biennale International Architecture Exhibition “Freespace”, titled by the 2018 appointed Architecture Sector Director Yvonne Farrell and Shelley McNamara. The Curator is expected to bring out a strong curatorial theme through carefully coordinated and strong visual identification.

4.2 The Organiser possesses no objection to the Proposal being further developed from prior architectural works, or prior projects of design, research, publication and/or exhibition.

4.3 The Hong Kong Exhibition shall encourage participation of and production by creative professionals including but not limited to artists, designers, architects and urban planners.

4.4 The events shall outreach to the youngsters, in which some of them should be organised for primary, secondary and tertiary school students.
