Candidate's personal statement:

John F. Kennedy said "The new frontier of which I speak is not a set of promises, it is a set of challenges." I would say now is the greatest time to be alive, because we are blessed, challenged and evolved. As one of the stakeholders in HKIA, I am running to report our frontiers and propose solutions.

We are the same; we share the same aspiration towards improving the architecture industry; we share the same values to improve our community via creativity; we share the same vision to create an inclusive environment. I have been sharing my experience and creating diversified opportunities. Steering the institute towards positive development would be a priority. Igniting connections within the industry and opening up opportunities for small practices would be our grand goal. Review and re-examination of the present rules and regulations and adoption of new approaches would be indispensable for creating an ideal business environment and realising our dreams and aspirations.

We all growing from the same roots, we study, practise and grow in action. I am honored to be a nurturer and I set my sights on encouraging the emerging architects to be even more curious, creative and confident than we are today. I feel honoured to work with various clients across private, public and voluntary sectors, which allowed us to unleash our creativity and contribute towards a better society. All we need is a fair chance to speak for and present ourselves. Young talents and clients are within reach.

We are dedicated individuals in different aspects; we strive for the best. We serve our community, clients, fellow members to provide the best services, generate synergy with design and embellish places with creativity. As I have been committed to the industry in all these years, I would make determined effort to encouraging the institute to participate in the social needs actively and calling for our members' professionalism and empathy for a change.

The present is a game-changing moment, all waits upon our decision. The whole world looks to see what we can do and what we can deliver. I would like to continue devoting myself to serving each and everyone of you and be part of the wheel gear. Above all, we must embrace the compulsion to race for new frontiers and push the boundaries of what is possible. Change the gameplay and have the greatest time to be alive, together.
