CANDIDATE'S PERSONAL STATEMENT

Unity is Strength

We need a united HKIA to face the challenges ahead. A harmonious relationship among young and seasoned architects, small to large practices, and architects in private and public sector could be established through mutual understanding and respect. We should join force to achieve our shared visions and missions, while unavoidable differences could be managed through sincere communication.

Healthy Professional Environment

We need a healthy professional environment for all architects in various positions and sectors of the community, as well as large, medium and small practices. Revamping of the Government procurement system is essential for reversing the worsening fee diving problems, and provision of good job opportunities for the healthy growth of practices of all bands. We also need streamlining of Government procedures to relieve the burden of over-complicated Government procedures for architects working in both the public and private sectors, so that we can focus our energy and time for pursuing architectural excellence, and at the same time enjoy work-life balance.

Candidate's Statement

Leadership Role of Architects

Architects shoulder great social responsibility as our projects take care of the well-being of people in all stages of life. To strive for architectural excellence, we should maintain and strengthen our leadership role in the projects assigned to us, and be vocal on issues in relation to architectural and urban development issues. Other than participation in Government public engagements, we need more active interaction with the media, so as to disseminate our professional views to the public effectively. We would also make the best use of the HKIA website and social media platforms, as well as reaching out to members and the public through various activities like voluntary work in recent years.

International Competitiveness

In the era of globalization, we need to maintain our international competitiveness, and further strengthen our international connections through participation of international events like Venice Biennale, ARACCSIA and UIA events, as well as hoisting cross-boundary events like architectural symposium and overseas exhibitions of members' work. To bring in new and diversified ideas, we should continue facilitating mobility of architectural academic qualifications through mutual recognition under Canberra Accord, and direct agreement with overseas authorities.

Well-being of the Whole Community

The ultimate goal is the building of a livable, healthy, sustainable, and inclusive city with a favorable professional environment for members to excel.
