Candidate's personal statement:

I believe in good design. I think innovation is the key to resolve many problems and conflicts of our time. As architects we should apply our expertise to a wider context.

In the past 15 years, I witnessed a change of our local profession: More people value good design; more opportunities were given to young designers. Yet I think we could still do more, to overcome the hurdle of administration and seek more opportunities for the young talents.

With the aging workforce and the uncertain economy which the city is facing, technologies will be the future of our profession. I plan to use my knowledge in this field to engage the young members and graduates to make a radical leap for our building industry.
