Through my experience with various boards and committees of the Institute and the government, I believe it is not only our privilege to shape Hong Kong's built environment, but also our obligation to contribute our knowledge and insights, to the public and the government, on the future direction that sustainable developments are to take.

As citizens of a developed economy, Hongkongers embrace a holistic view towards architecture and urban design, wherein issues in conservation, environment and aesthetics are valued in relation to function and economic returns, as well as cultural and social considerations. It is thus imperative that we act as opinion leaders and convey our views in such a way that they are heard, understood, and become actions. In this regard, I shall facilitate formation of our positions as well as their timely delivery.

Since we are providing services through expertise, it follows that our prospects and contribution are only as good as the talent we attract and retain, and how well we maintain and advance our cutting-edge knowledge and work environment. With a flexible and inclusive approach, I shall promote continuing professional development, upkeep the standards of professional assessment, and strive for improvement in our professional environment.

My vision is for the Institute to be one that is Hong Kong's pride, and one that we are proud of being a member because of its contribution and reputation. We may not be large in number, but we can make significant contributions. Please vote for me to serve in the Council.
